B. A. MCKELVIE GIVEN CONSERVATIVE PARTY NOMINATION IN CITY

Convention Unanimous in Choice of Standard Bearer for Federal By-Election Here November 29—Nominee Carries 226 of the 288 Delegates on First Ballot

A MID scenes of unrestrained enthusiasm and a tumultuous up roar of cheers and handclapping that lasted until the chairman's gavel rapped for order, Bruce A. McKelvie, journalist, was chosen Conservative candidate to contest the by-election for Victoria's vacant seat in the House of Commons on November 29. He polled 226 votes of the possible 288 on the first ballot, at the convention in the Chamber of Commerce last night.

His two opponents, Robert D. Harvey, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, and W. H. M. Haldane, vice-president, moved and seconded the motion to make the choice unanimous. Mr. McKelvie's majority, on a three-man ticket, was said to be the largest ever accorded a nominee in the history of the association. The applause that greeted his nomination by Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown disclosed, early in the proceedings, the candidate's popularity with the delegates. F. A. Willis was returning officer.

THE NOMINATIONS
The nominations in their order were: Robert D. Harvey, by Reginald Hayward; W. H. M. Haldane, by Senator G. H. Barnard; and Mr. McKelvie, by Brigadier Brown.

NO RECOGNITION IN AGENCY PLAN

Plan to Send Trade Envos To Insurgent Spain Ex- plained by Minister

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP-Hava)—Necessities of British trade alone prompted negotiations with the Spanish Insurgent Government for exchange of commercial agents, Foreign Secretary Eden informed the House of Commons today.

Mr. Eden said most of Great Britain's trade with Spain is normally with those sections now under the Inurgent General Franco's control. He stressed, as did Prime Minister Chamberlain last week, the proposed exchange of agents would in no way mean recognizing the insurgent authorities or granting diplomatic status to their representatives. The Foreign Secretary did not name the British agents to be sent to insurgent Spain.

NO RECOGNITION

According to those well informed, the main reason for delay in concluding negotiations with Salamanca is that General Franco would like the British Government to declare exchange of officials constitutes de facto recognition of the insurgent regime. To this, however, London is opposed.

Other factors which held up conclusion of an agreement—sinking of the British freighter Jean Weems by an insurgent plane and insurgent detention of seven British trade ships—apparently are settled.

EXPRESS REGRET

Mr. Eden told the House the insurgents have expressed regret over sinking of the Jean Weems, have ordered all possible precautions taken against repetition of such incident, and have offered to submit the question of liability and compensation to arbitration, if necessary, and abide by the results.

As for the seven ships detained, the Foreign Secretary said, an order has been given for their release, and some have already left Spain.

DE LA ROCQUE FOUND GUILTY OF SLANDER

LYON, France, Nov. 8 (CP-Hava)—Colonel Francois de la Rocque, leader of the pro-Fascist French Social Party, was convicted of slandering today on a charge brought by Duke Pozzo di Borgo, his former lieutenant in the banned Croix de Feu.

De la Rocque was fined 200 francs ($6.76) and ordered to pay damages of 3,000 francs (about $90) and costs.

ROWE IS ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Ontario Conservative Leader Returns to Ottawa as Member for Dufferin-Simcoe

ALLISTON, Ont., Nov. 8 (CP)—Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader, was elected to the House of Commons for Dufferin-Simcoe by acclamation today when nominations for the November 13 by-election closed.

The Liberal party decided several days ago not to oppose Mr. Rowe's return to Parliament and no other candidate except the Conservative filed nomination papers.

Shortly before Ontario's general election, October 6, Mr. Rowe resigned his Dufferin-Simcoe Federal seat to run for the Provincial House in Simcoe Centre. He was beaten by the Liberal Minister of Education, Hon. L. J. Simpson.

For the seven ships detained, the Foreign Secretary said, an order has been given for their release, and some have already left Spain.

SEES RESTORATION OF CONFIDENCE AS VITAL TO WELFARE

R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., Appeals for Pay-as- You-Go Policy in Provincial Affairs, Charging Administration With Breach of Faith

In a vigorous speech accorded the first desk-thumping ovation of the session, R. L. Maitland, K.C., senior Conservative member for Vancouver-Point Grey, stirred the Nineteenth Legislature yesterday with its first real taste of oratory. In a keynote address from the Conservative side, he sounded a pay-as-you-go policy, and taxed the Administration with a debt increase of $5,000,000 and a budget deficit of $6,000,000 in the year of peak revenues, 1936-37.

J. H. Forrester (Liberal, Burrard) followed, in debate adjourned by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir for the day.

Rising to speak, Mr. Maitland described public service as the highest duty to the state, and membership in Parliament as its highest practical expression. vilification of men in public office destroys public confidence, no less than a

Expllosion of Black Powder Causes Confusion in Los Angeles Bible College

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (AP)—One student of the Foursquare Bible College lost a hand and another suffered injuries which may cause the loss of sight in an explosion of black powder on the roof of the school, adjacent to Almee Semple McPherson's Angelus Temple, here tonight.

Gordon Atwater, sixteen, of Albuquerque, N.M., suffered the amputation of his left hand at a receiving hospital, and surgeons said he might lose his sight.

WORKED AS JANITOR

Atwater, who worked as a janitor in the school to pay his tuition, said he and Edwin bond, sixteen, found two cans of the powder in the temple and took it to the roof of the Bible school.

Bond lit a match, and the powder, one can of which Atwater had in his hand and another in a pocket, exploded.

Five hundred Bible college students in the buildings at the time were thrown into confusion. Three of them fainted and were given restoratives.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, announced today gold would be exported from the United States on Wednesday, for the first time in nearly two years.

He said $10,250,000 worth of the metal would leave New York on the Normandie, for France. The French stabilization fund purchased it to prevent the fraud from increasing over the dollar too sharply.

Although declining to say whether other countries have contracted to take gold, the secretary left the impression other sums would cross the Atlantic this week.

Morgenthau explained that the price of gold in London has reached $35.22 cents an ounce, thus making it profitable to transport gold from this country to Europe.

ROYALTY DINNS AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP-Hava)—Three kings and queens dined together in Buckingham Palace tonight. King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were hosts to King Boris III and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria and King George II of Greece. Queen Mary also attended. After dinner, the guests watched a motion picture in the palace ballroom.

DECISION RESERVED IN TELEPHONE RATE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP)—The Board of Railway Commissioners, tonight, reserved decision on the complaint of Vancouver Federated ratepayers against a new flat telephone rate now in effect in Vancouver. Twenty thousand persons were said to have signed a petition protesting the establishment of a telephone system which abolished toll calls between city districts, by establishing a higher monthly rate.

LAUDS GREAT ANTI-COMMUNIST FACT

MUNICH, Nov. 8 (CP-Hava)—The Rome-Berlin axis has been expanded into a "great world political triangle" by the German-Japanese anti-Communist pact. Chancellor Hitler stated here tonight at Nazi Germany's fourteenth "birthday party," "Today the Reich is no longer isolated." Hitler declared, "This was achieved, thanks to the importance the Reich has created for itself. It is from this importance that our new relations have resulted."

BUDGET COMES DOWN ON WEDNESDAY IN B.C. LEGISLATURE

WEDNESDAY will be Budget Day in the British Columbia Legislature. It was adjourned yesterday by party leaders. The main debate is expected to conclude today, and Hon. John Hart will bring down next day his fifth consecutive budget under the present administration. On Thursday, Remembrance Day, the Legislature will sit, while Monday of next week members have been invited to attend the formal opening of the Patullo Bridge at New Westminster. Liberal members were pressing yesterday for a recess Friday, to avoid split sittings.

Chinese Appear to Have Withdrawn Along Entire Western Front, Long Valiantly Defended—Fall Back in Face of Intense Artillery and Aerial Bombardment—Sungkian Destroyed

Numerous Hungjao Buildings Fired by Retreating Troops

SHANGHAI, Nov. 9 (P)—Shanghai fell today to a wildly excited Japanese army which swept across the once bitterly defended Soochow Creek on the western fringes of the heavily guarded International Settlement. Before noon Japanese legions captured Hungjao Aerodrome—China's Sarajevo, where the spark fell which started the Chinese-Japanese conflict. Retreating Chinese troops, who left China's great Commercial city within the Japanese battle lines, fired numerous buildings throughout the Hungjao area as they fell back toward Winter defence lines farther to the west.

Japanese planes, taking to the air quickly in the face of the Chinese withdrawal, heavily bombed the Chinese lines while mobile shock troops raced forward in an attempt to wipe out Chinese stragglers.

COMPLETE WITHDRAWAL
Vast clouds of smoke in the vicinity of Nanjing, important railway point directly west of Shanghai, were believed to be foreign military observers to indicate that Chinese probably had withdrawn along the entire western line, which they had defended valiantly since Japanese captured Chingpu on October 27.

ONTARIO FEELS FORCE OF GALE
Rain and Electrical Storms Cause Damage—Lightning Strobes Numerous

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 8 (P)—Heavy northeast gales accompanied by snow flurries tonight lashed the upper end of Lake Superior and drove all known vessels into shelter except the Canadian Pacific passenger liner Aspinwall, which drove straight into the storm above Whitefish Point and headed for Port Williams.

In Port Arthur, automobile and street car traffic was impeded and ploughs, sweepers and service trucks were out in force.

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (P)—Rain and electrical storms swept over Western Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula today, causing considerable damage. Lower temperatures were forecast.

Storm signals were hoisted at Marquette as a southwest gale whipped Lake Huron. Reports of lightning-strike barns were numerous.

Four Young Men Arrested By Chief Allan Rankin and Sergeant Cummings

With arrest of four young men in Baanish late last evening by Chief Allan Rankin and Sergeant P. K. Cummings, police believe they have solved a series of thefts in Greater Victoria extending over a period of several months.

The young men were lodged in the city jail and their ages ranged from eighteen to twenty-two years. They will be charged in Baanish Police Court with breaking and entering a service station at the corner of Gorge and Tillitum Roads on October 22.

Acting on advance information, Chief Rankin and Sergeant Cummings left for Cowichan early yesterday morning. They were accompanied by Government sources confirmed a series of minor engagements had forced Catalan militiamen to withdraw. The insurgent advance was limited to less than a mile, Government sources said.

Pleads for Peace in Spain and Suggests Boycotting of Japan

President of League of Nations Union in Britain Says Geneva Should Deal With Spanish Conflict—Doubts Value of Non-Aid Committee

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (C) — Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, president of the League of Nations Union of Great Britain, tonight made a plea for peace in Spain and the Orient, and suggested an economic boycott of Japan.

Speaking at University of Toronto and other organizations, Lord Cecil urged machinery of the League of Nations be used in bringing peace to a troubled world.

He charged the main purpose of the London non-intervention committee has been to provide a screen for intervention, and that the problem was treated too much along the lines of the "old diplomacy."

"As long as war goes on in Spain and excites the most violent feelings, intervention is all but inevitable," he said.

REMEDY AT GENEVA

"The only real remedy is to stop the war, and for that purpose the sooner the whole controversy is transferred to the atmosphere of Geneva and away from the atmosphere of the old diplomacy, the more chance there will be of success."

He said that as long as the Spanish civil war was an internal matter, such a device as the non-intervention committee to prevent it spreading "was perhaps all that was required." But when it became a matter of international concern by reason of outside interference, then a policy of non-intervention was inadequate.

ORIENTAL CONFLICT

Turning to the Sino-Japanese conflict, Lord Cecil said: "We must do nothing to help Japan in slandering Chinese, but that is just what we are doing."

"Japan is able to kill her opponents, and their women and children, because she has an immense superiority in weapons of war. To make and use those weapons she requires materials most of which she buys from outside, such as petrol, iron and rubber. If such countries which possess these materials refused to sell them to Japan, she could not long go on with her war."

He said a relatively small number of countries buy most of Japan's goods, of which the chief is silk. If those countries refused to buy most of these goods, the war would not last long.

REPLY IS MADE TO SEWER QUESTIONS

In reply to questions of Alderman John A. Worthington at a council meeting last evening, it was stated that nineteen Spanish connections had been made to the northeast sewer. Total fees were $1,539.00. Unpaid fees were $24.

WOMEN UNITE TO WAGE WAR

Toronto Housewives Protest Against Increase in Price of Milk

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (C) — Embalmed housewives of Toronto, 500 strong, decided at a Labor Temple meeting here, tonight, to reduce consumption of milk to the bare necessity, until Toronto dairy bring the price down to 10 cents a quart. Mrs. Bertha Lamb, twenty-three-year-old leader of the milk protest movement, presided at the meeting.

Men were strictly barred from the meeting, and reporters were booted when they took their places. The nominations were interrupted half-way when the cry was raised there was a male "housewife" in the room.

QUIETLY AND QUICKLY

Investigation showed the man had been standing in the gallery, above the chairman, but had, left before the alarm went up.

Mrs. Lamb said the idea for the movement originated in her own home after milk prices went up to 13 cents a quart in Toronto. She addressed the meeting despite a letter received by her a few hours before, threatening the life of her eleventh-month-old child.

"I received hundreds of calls, absolutely compelling me to call this meeting, after I headed a petition to the City Council," she said. "Housewives have had to bear the brunt of low wages and high prices. It is our responsibility to make our husbands' wages go as far as possible."

UP TO HOUSEWIVES

"Arise against profligating corporations that would make us pay through the nose for our privileges," she continued. "We women can be a power for good in the community. It's up to you housewives to unite and see this thing through to a finish."

The housewives screamed appealed to a Japanese expeditionary force which was marching up from the south after landing along the coast. Sunkiang, normally a city of 70,000, had been destroyed by a raid of forty Japanese planes. (The Japanese have been raiding Sungkiang for at least two weeks.)

Casualties were said to have been light, however, because nearly all the inhabitants had fled to the countryside. Thousands of refugees from that direction were streaming into Shanghai.

AGAINT KEY POINT

This expeditionary column was said to be making a strong attack against Sunkiang, a key point in China's communications to the west.

It was believed the Chinese would take new positions several miles from Shanghai in an attempt to bar the Japanese advance toward Nanking.

Japanese forces started crossing Soochow Creek west of Shanghai at 8:30 a.m. (7:30 p.m. E.S.T.), meeting with only rear guard action from the Chinese.

The foreign observers said Chinese forces were falling back in the face of an intense Japanese artillery and aerial bombardment, with the retreat beginning first from the area nearest the International Settlement, which was said to be almost cleared already.

CROSS RAILWAY BRIDGE

Japanese began crossing the Jessfield railway bridge near St. John's University, scene of the bitterest fighting in the past ten days, as soon as scouts assured them the Chinese were leaving the region undefended.

Because the sector nearest the International Settlement previously had been the most staunchly defended, it was believed Chinese troops were falling back along the entire battle line west of the Settlement.

Since the Nantao Safety Zone in Southern Shanghai became effective today, withdrawal from the western front would leave Shanghai virtually free of warfare and almost completely surrounded by the Japanese.

A Japanese officer crossed Jessfield Bridge—symbolizing the fall of Shanghai—and walked opposite the British defense outposts, firing a revolver ahead of him.

ADVANCE WARILY

A Japanese patrol followed immediately behind him and cautiously examined the first dugout along the railway which the Chinese had evacuated shortly before them. Then warily the Japanese advanced and spread out over the new territory.

Earlier the Japanese army reported it had seized positions in the outskirts of Sunkiang, twenty-two miles southwest of here and a key point in the Chinese defense system in the Shanghai area.

This Japanese column was one of three landed Friday on the seacoast south of Shanghai, evidently to sever communications between Chinese armies around Shanghai and their important bases in Chekiang Province to the southwest.

COINCIDING DRIVE

The drive from the south coincided with fresh Japanese attacks from the north along the line of Soochow Creek, at the northwestern edge of Shanghai's International Settlement.

Japanese communists said Japanese naval planes operating over the Shanghai hinterland had attacked the British fleet.

Although this is Victoria's first community chest campaign, it is expected that expenses of both campaign and administration will not exceed the 5 per cent allotted, Frank Paulding, organizer, stated.

"This low figure was a record for North America, 84 per cent being the average for cities of this size elsewhere on the continent."

R. H. B. Ker was particularly anxious to acknowledge the splendid help given by the auditing staff. This composed of T. Leeming and a splendid, efficient group of bank clerks and accountants, had given magnificent service of immeasurable help to the committee.

"Through their personal sacrifice in giving of their time from 5 to 9 p.m. each day, they have enabled us to publish checked and audited statements promptly," he added. The auditors, by the way, will be at headquarters every evening this week, with the exception of Thursday, to receive any further returns from the several divisional teams.

Although Tuesday, November 16, had been announced for the "Victory Dutch-Treat Dinner," at which the whole campaign will be reviewed and workers enjoy a final "get-together," it was stated last evening that the date would possibly be changed owing to clash with other events that evening.

Residential Clause Motion Is Defeated At Council Meeting

Ald. J. A. Worthington Seeks to Have Municipal Act Changed So That Mayor and Aldermen Would Have to Live Within Boundaries

A MOTION designed to force the mayor and aldermen of any municipality to reside within boundaries of the area they represented was defeated at a City Council meeting last evening. It was moved by Alderman John A. Worthington and seconded by Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan.

The motion read: "That the legislative committee be authorized and requested on behalf of the city to take immediate steps by way of representations to the municipal committee of the Provincial Legislature, or such other means as may appear expedient, looking towards enactment at the present session of the Legislature of legislation amending the Municipal Act to require that the mayor and aldermen of any city municipality shall be residents of the municipality during their term of office."

"It is ill-timed. I do not think it will get to first base. It is up to electors themselves to say if a holder of a large amount of property within a city, but who does not reside within

Commission Costs Are Detailed by B.C. Government

THE British Columbia Fuel Commission has filed two reports, but has not yet completed its labours. The Government has referred to questions in the Legislature. Fees paid so far include Price, Waterhouse & Company, $17,947; George A. Touché & Company, $11,652; C. E. O'Halloran, K.C., senior counsel, $32,310; and J. Pitcairn Hogg, associate counsel, $12,111. The Provincial Secretary said: "In reply to Herbert Aspinwall (Coors, Victoria), I shall seek public office," declared Alderman James Adam.

EXPRESSES STAND

"I am determined to try and get this through," answered Alderman Worthington.

Last time he introduced the same motion it was decisively defeated by the council.

"We are not dealing with personalities," said Alderman Morgan. "It appears to me that in the past, prejudice has been shown in regard to fire and water agreements," he added.

"I am going to vote against the motion. It is a matter for the electorate to decide," Alderman S. H. O'Neill stated.

Those voting for the motion were Mayor MacGavin, Aldermen Worthington, Morgan and T. W. Hawkins. Against were Aldermen Archie Willis, R. A. C. Dewar, Adam, Kell and Edward Williams.

When the motion was declared defeated, Alderman Worthington asserted he would keep on trying until he secured its passage through the council.

"Letter from Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Federal Minister of Public Works, in regard to the proposed fisherman's float in the Inner Harbor, was referred to Alderman W. T. Strath, chairman of the harbor committee.

SITES UNSUITABLE

Mr. Cardin pointed out sites near Johnson Street bridge, in the vicinity of the Canadian National transfer slip and adjacent to the entrance of Rock Bay, had all been found unsuitable by J. P. Forder, district engineer for the Department of Public Works.

"No other suitable site having presented itself to the district engineer, the city engineer was informed that no further action would be taken until he could suggest a site that would meet with approval of the City Council," the letter stated.

On recommendation of the lands committee, the council sanctioned sale of a lot on the west side of Rockland Avenue, between Oak Bay Avenue and Terrace Avenue, for $2,000 cash. Another lot on the north side of Queens Avenue, between Vancouver and Quadra Streets, was sold for $250 cash.

A letter from Oak Bay, suggesting that a new water agreement be set for a rate lower than the present 75 cents per thousand gallons, was referred to the water board.

NO RESPONSIBILITY

Public works executive recommendation that work of laying a storm sewer to serve a gas station being constructed for W. C. Todd at the north end of Gordon Street be proceeded with, was adopted by the council. A proviso stated the city accepted no responsibility for work that had already been done by a contractor in opening up Broughton Street.

Permission was granted Holkum Packing Company, Ltd., to assign its twenty-year lease on the former Lake Hill pumping station to Victoria Fruit Packing Company, Ltd.

A condemnation order for several old buildings at 119 Howe Street was granted.

Proposed changes in Hospitals Act, received from the Provincial Government, were tabled for further investigation.

A letter from G. Todd, hoping the council would submit a plebiscite to the electorate for erection of a public forum, was referred to finance and lands committees.

Obituary

PULLINGER—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Sunday, these passed away at the age of fifty-nine years, Margaret Bessant Pullinger, of 852 Devonshire Road, Esquimalt. Miss Pullinger was born in Brighton, Sussex, England, and had resided in Victoria for the last eight years. There survive her mother, Mrs. W. W. Pullinger, of 852 Devonshire Road, and two brothers, Percy Pullinger, Vancouver, and Bruce Pullinger, in England. The remains were forwarded last night by Sands Mortuary, Ltd., to Vancouver, where services will be conducted Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon. The remains will be laid at rest in Ocean View Cemetery.

BURDGE—Yesterday, at the family residence, 3346 Oak Street, there passed away Edward Burdge, aged sixty-eight years. Mr. Burdge was born in England and came to Victoria six years ago from Hanna district, Alberta, where he had resided for twenty-two years. He was postmaster and chairman of the school board at Berry Creek, Alta. He used to mourn his loss his widow and three sons, Francis and Frederick, Victoria, and Reginald in Somerset, England, also two daughters, Mrs. G. Swan, Victoria, and Mrs. A. McKeown, Berry Creek, Alta.; one brother in Alberta, and brothers and sisters in England and nineteen grandchildren. The remains are resting at McCallum Funeral Home, and the funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Victoria Gospel Hall, Pandora Avenue. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Legislative Press Gallery Chooses Officers for Coming Year

James Dyer, of The Vancouver Sun, was chosen president of the British Columbia Legislative Press Gallery yesterday, succeeding Al Williamson, of The News-Herald. C. P. Moriarty, of the Canadian Press, was elected secretary-treasurer.

In the election of honorary officers from the Legislature, the gallery selected Dr. Frank P. Patterson, M.P.P., as honorary president; Hon. Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., M.P.P., and Harold E. Winch, M.P.P., as honorary vice-presidents.

Four new members were admitted to the gallery, as follows: Norman J. Gibbons, The Province; Roy Murdoch, The Colonist; James K. Nesbitt, The Times, and Nigel Morgan, representing C.C.P. publications.

SAYS CONFIDENCE VITAL TO WELFARE

leader, who had given purpose and direction to the Conservative party in British Columbia. Hon. E. W. Hamber and Mrs. Hamber had undertaken their mission at Government House with distinction, he said.

CONFIDENCE ESSENTIAL

Mr. Maitland regretted he could not say as much for the administration and its policies. Confidence in government was an essential to progress, and this confidence had been forfeited. The election of June last had been called before Conservatives were organized and had been characterized by public expenditures without parallel in the history of the province.

In the light of its prior record, the return of the administration had been a tragic mandate on the part of the people. The only issues developed by the Government had been a cry to kick out the C.C.F., and a one-man "grab" at the Yukon.

For four years before the same administration, he asserted, had carried on like a "steam roller," squandering public money.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO

When the Patullo administration took over in 1933, budgetary expenses had been at a depression level of $19,038,000. There had been a start and an opportunity as revenues increased to set the Province's house in order by a pay-as-you-go policy. Instead, the Province had been allowed to go deeper into the hole. The Government had failed to keep faith with the people and could not balance its budget with the highest revenues in history. In 1936-37 the revenues had exceeded $28,000,000, but expenditures had been pushed up to $28,102,000, or between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000 more than in 1933.

In spite of the high tide of revenues, the administration had gone down $2,600,000 in current outlays for $17,000 less than sums actually received in the year. This was tantamount to a deficit of $6,000,000, and on top of that had been an increase in Provincial debt of $5,000,000. Mr. Maitland declared.

The people had expected an advanced programme, sanity in legislation, and a sound financial policy and would expect no less in the next four years. All that could be said was that British Columbia had not followed Alberta into repudiation.

In the Department of Education alone, the public accounts showed estimated expenditures of $3,400,000 and actual outlays of $3,928,000, or $528,000 more than the House had been asked to vote.

An abortive attempt had been made at health insurance and a coast board left on sputnik after the attempt failed. Ministerial traveling expenses had come high, as high as $5,000 with respect to one minister. New fads and fancies had been instituted, all costing money. Roads had been starved for three years, to be glutted in an outburst of expenditure just before the election when a special $3,000,000 loan was floated in Toronto.

PLAYING "MONOPOLY"

"I really think that the Cabinet these last three years has been playing that game called 'Monopoly.' It is a game you play with paper money, only in this case the money comes from the taxpayers of the province and we put it up. If you want to keep faith with the people, you should pay as you go along, and keep your promise first," Mr. Maitland declared.

PLEDGES CITED

Before the election of 1933 the Liberal party had promised to lift the 1 per cent tax, but had retained 4%. Aid had been promised municipalities, but not provided in any adequate measure. Cuts had been made by the prior regime in municipal grants, on the understanding that these would be reviewed when revenues recovered. Revenues had recovered, but the municipalities were still suffering. When the municipalities' representatives had called on one occasion at Victoria, the Government had been too busy to see them, and other occasions they had been told nothing could be done.

It was a poor Santa Claus that forgot his promised presents, Mr. Maitland observed. Supporters of the administration had been "going to drive the money-changers out of the temple"; and its leader had said he would "make use of the national credit." A highway commission had been pledged, but the pledge was now ignored. Numerous commissions, however, had been launched to do Government work. Ministers were servants of the people, not their masters; and yet the Special Powers Act had been passed to take over all the rights of parliament.

Mr. Maitland turned his guns on the point, the revolutionary internationalists had been sunk. He had said that the C.C.F. would never come into power in British Columbia; that if the Liberal party failed to restore confidence, the Conservatives stood ready to provide a same programme of administration.

DR. PATTERSON RETURNS

Mr. Maitland spoke for an hour and seventeen minutes, his animated and impassioned delivery winning him the complete attention of the House, and a round of deck-thumping that was maintained for long after he took his seat. Present to hear the address was Dr. Frank Patterson, Leader of the Conservative opposition, fully recovered from his recent indisposition.

J. H. Forster (Liberal, Burrard) asked for an increased grant of $2,500 to the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, compared with $2,000 at present. Quotting road and relief expenditures reported at $4,072,000 in the public accounts, he said this had been necessary work, and impartially handled. Vancouver-Burrard members in the House wished to see development of the Lougheed Highway, from Boundary Road to Maillardville. Mr. Forster concluded, after a general defence of the administration.

E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby) took the Legislature on its annual imaginary tour of British Columbia institutions, quoting at length from printed reports in the Provincial Secretary's Department. He asked the Province to restore an elected municipal council in Burnaby, under the Provincial commissioner there, if necessary. He argued Burnaby was entitled to a second member in the House and appealed for a $50,000 grant to aid street improvement in Burnaby, and asked for establishment of a health unit for that riding.

The House rose at 8 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. today. No legislation was offered.

GENERAL DENISON DIES

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (T)—Major-General Septimus J. A. Denison, C.M.G., seventy-eight, died in hospital here today. General Denison, native of Toronto, served as aide-de-camp to the Earl of Aberdeen during his term as Governor-General of Canada, and during the South African War. A.D.C. to Field Marshal Earl Roberts. He was A.D.C. to the late King George V when, as Duke of Cornwall, he toured Canada in 1901.

HAVE NO FEAR FOR ENGLAND URGES WRITER

Motherland Well Able to Care for Itself, Says Thomas Wayling

KING'S LOYALTY TO EMPIRE IS PRAISED

"You can stop worrying about England. From what I saw both of her navy and her air force, England is safe," Thomas Wayling, international reporter, parliamentary correspondent and contributor to a number of Canadian and American magazines, told the Men's Canadian Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Basing his opinions upon what he had seen in Great Britain, France and Germany, and what he had heard trained observers say of Italy, Mr. Wayling contended that war was not near, and that the greatest factor for world peace was the British rearmament programme.

In France and Germany, he pointed out, the people were "fed up with war talk." In the latter country, all the people wanted to do was to bring up their families in peace, and to re-establish themselves economically. Hitler, Mr. Wayling said, tended more toward peace than war, but was forced to "dance to the tune of the fire-eaters" played.

ETHIOPIAN BLUNDER

Newspapers who had travelled throughout Italy had told him in Paris, that the Ethiopian campaign was a terrible blunder, and that efforts to colonize had met with failure.

"The unknown quantity in Europe still remains Spain," he said. "In my estimation there will be no war, unless it starts from an incident there." Mr. Wayling contended that Germany and Italy would eventually seek the friendship of Great Britain.

"Though the Motherland has been criticized for her foreign policy," he continued, "I believe her course is the wisest. Why should Great Britain pull the chestnuts out of the fire for other nations in Europe?"

"That is the sentiment of us all. I think," Mr. Wayling remarked.

In concluding, he drew attention to the fact that television in England had really arrived, and described the third act of "Faust," played at London, and seen in Brighton.

The speaker was introduced to the gathering by Colonel H. T. Goodland, president, and thanked

FEDERATED CHARITIES

The Community Chest campaign has resulted in success, due to the co-operation of the public, their appreciation of what is intended and to the enthusiasm of the many volunteer workers who acted as collectors. This scheme of federating the task of public collections for charitable purposes has now, because of what has been accomplished in the first effort in this community, become an institution. It is significant of the organizing ability which was brought to bear on the initial effort here that the result reached the anticipation of the workers. That is not alone a tribute to what they have been able to do, but a matter for congratulation to the community as a whole because of public appreciation of a plan which has been found to operate so well elsewhere.

The fact that so many thousands of persons made their contributions and in the aggregate have brought the campaign to a point where the goal in view is certain to be reached insures that the community effort will gratify public opinion. The aims in view included the bringing into being of a business-like way of consolidating charitable effort, of persuading the public of budgeting for individual philanthropic purposes and of insuring different organizations that it will be possible for them to carry on their work without the necessity of making frequent appeals to the people. These aims have been shown to be possible by the success of the first Community Chest, and because of that fact there is cause for all-round congratulation.

BOOK WEEK

The object of Book Week, held annually, is to direct attention to the works of authors belonging to this country. It is no easy task to build up a literary consciousness in Canada with its great distances, its mixed population, and because of the comparatively limited circulation that books written in the Dominion may enjoy within its bounds. What is certain, however, is that Book Week has had the effect of directing more attention to the literary achievements of writers in Canada, and they are deriving better results through a widening of the field in which they are known.

It used to be a complaint that Canadian authors enjoyed but little recognition at home, and it is true that many of them have gone elsewhere to pursue their labors. It would be well to be able to believe that this tendency is no longer prevalent. If it has been checked, then the Canadian Authors' Association must be given credit, in part at least. One of its main purposes is to draw attention to the works of writers living in Canada, and it has been successful to a degree in what it is doing in this regard. Book Week is one of education. The more people who participate in the interest that it arouses, the better the works of Canadian novelists, poets and other writers will become known and the greater a literary consciousness among the people as a whole will be developed.

NOTHING DONE

The Montreal Star waxes sarcastic because the Federation of the Chambres de Commerce of the Province of Quebec complains about nothing being done as an outcome of the recommendations made by the Royal Commission on Railways and Transportation. That federation described the Commission as having been composed of "men of international reputation and outstanding merit" who conducted "a searching inquiry from coast to coast," submitted its report five years ago "and absolutely nothing was done about it." The Star believes that this attitude illustrates ignorance of what Royal Commissions are designated to accomplish. It says, in commenting on the fact that nothing was done:

"Certainly not. Commissions are not appointed to get things done. They are appointed to postpone, and possibly for ever, to remove, the need for getting things done. They are instruments of procrastination—not preparations for action. Perish the thought! If a Government—any Government—is ready to act, it does not need a Commission; but if it is frightened out of its boots and does not know which way to turn to dodge action, then it regards a Royal Commission as a well-tested and traditional life-saver."

What the Government has done, as an outcome of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Railways and Transportation, is to change the bookkeeping system of the Canadian National Railways. The Star says: "We no longer find in the Public Accounts how far and how fast we are running behind in our interest payments on those debts of the Canadian National that are guaranteed by the Dominion Government. We pay them just the same, but we charge these payments up to other accounts; and we always will pay them. But quite enough is known to make it absolutely certain that the rising tide of earnings will never, never overtake the interest charges on the debt unless common sense is brought into play and the two railway systems are forced into some form of rational co-operation. . . . On the authority of railway experts, we have 5,000 miles of unnecessary track now being used. A lot of it is sheer duplication. All of us know long stretches where the rails of the two competing systems run along almost side by side. If any private company owned both systems, these duplicating rails would be merged. No sensible capitalists would submit to so wasteful a method of operation. There are also duplicating offices all over the country, duplicating stations and terminals, duplicating services of all sorts. There could admittedly be an immense saving by the amalgamation of these things without reducing by a half the service to the public—or raising rates by a penny. The Royal Commission recommended co-operation. Voluntary co-operation has failed. Waiting for prosperity and an enlarged population has already outlasted the period in which it might have been effective. What is wanted is a group of men in high places—on both sides of Parliament—who will take their courage in their hands, and enact a measure of unification that will put the railways where they can earn their way and pay their debts."

DANCE LAWS IN IRELAND

District Judge Goff, of Carlingford, Ireland, says that it seems impossible to reintroduce native dances in the country, and that, in effect, they are taboo. "Notwithstanding," he says, "our so-called national revival, we are becoming more foreign-minded than ever, and it seems to me as if Irish dancing is doomed." The trouble appears to be that wherever the native dances have been observed they have been parodied by being "semi-jazzed." Seemingly, however, the craze for dancing in Ireland is at its height, but it is foreign dances that are favorites. Of this The Derry Journal says:

"The signs are that excessive absorption in the dancing throughout the country, with all its harmful, and degrading consequences to the national fibre, may yet necessitate a still more drastic corrective than is presently being applied." It is not altogether a new conception that some types of dancing are "harmful and degrading," neither has it ever been claimed for the ballroom that it is the nursery of a sane mind in a sound body.

AN ACTIVE LEADER

Mr. Errick F. Willis, the leader of the Conservatives in Manitoba, takes his duties seriously, but enthusiastically. Since the Legislature there was prorogued he has travelled 15,000 miles within the Province and has addressed 65 meetings in 35 constituencies. If energy, patience and persistency will win his party the next election, Mr. Willis is an epitome of these, and there can be no doubt of his appreciation of what he believes to be the public interest.

Mr. Willis is described by The Winnipeg Tribune as "a sane, quiet, judicious young man with an excellent background and training and a real determination to live up to the high calling he has chosen." It admits that he has an uphill fight if he is to achieve power, but "win or lose, he has the intelligence and the integrity to fight fairly." Energy and enthusiasm of the kind Mr. Willis is displaying usually meet with their due reward. In carrying on such a sustained campaign of education from the standpoint of his party, that party will undoubtedly benefit. It is persistency, rightly directed, that wins elections.

Mr. Farley, the Postmaster General of the United States, says that there is "nothing to worry about" in the crash on the New York stock exchange. Nothing, if those involved can meet with the triumph and disaster of stock gambling and "treat the two imposters just the same."

Mr. Henry Ford has a reputation for perpetrating aphorisms and he is a much-quoted man. The trouble with most people, he says, "is that they don't listen to themselves enough. They listen too much to others." Shakespeare said this in another way, to the effect that "it is a good divining that follows his own instructions."

EXILE

I would remember how the sea birds sing.
And when the rain comes, loves the sea;
Always in my ears the sea bells ring;
And ever in my dreams the sea runs free;
Tell me again how white the tall ships sail,
Sisters of doom across the angry waters;
How sailors bend close to their spars to haul
On the lean bluff the seaman's waving daughter.
Tell me again how ships come limping home,
Battered and shaken on the swelling tide;
With men grown hungry for the sight of loan
And women waiting by their cottage-side.
I am an exile under inland skies
Wanting the sea with heart and mind and eyes.

Trailers are breaking up the home, I knew they would. A Michigan man was haled into court the other day by his wife on a series of complaints. One was that he had compelled his wife and four children to live in the trailer, out in front. Moreover, he fed them on rice; practising, he said, for life in China, where he intended to go as a missionary. I don't suppose they'd even have the trailer in China. It would be just

C.C.F. CANDIDATE HERE THURSDAY

Professor J. King Gordon Leaving Winnipeg Today for By-Election Campaign

Professor J. King Gordon, C.C.F. candidate for the coming Federal by-election here, who was expected to reach Victoria early this week, will now leave Winnipeg today and arrive here on Thursday afternoon, city headquarters of the C.C.F. were advised yesterday.

A public meeting arranged for tomorrow night, and campaign meetings set for early in the week, have been postponed on account of the delay in the candidate's arrival in Victoria, caused by the death and funeral of his father.

M. J. Coldwell, Federal C.C.F. candidate for Rosetown-Biggar, Saskatchewan, is expected to arrive in the city next Monday, and will remain here for the duration of the campaign.

CONTINUE EXHIBITION FOR ANOTHER YEAR

PARIJS, Nov. 8 (CP)—The Cabinet today decided to continue the Paris International Exposition through 1938. A bill appropriating 400,000,000 francs (about $13,800,000) to finance the renewal of the exposition was introduced by the Cabinet for submission to Parliament when it convenes November 16.

The world should recognize a brave man, no matter on what side of the political fence he may have happened to have been brought up. Emerging out of the distress of Spain, with its internal strife and external flame-throws, there are several tales of men who dared all to spirit victims of oppression out of the toils. These, the modern Scarlet Pimpernel, are operating in both loyalist and insurgent camps, at immediate risk of their own necks. Now and then one of the unselfish adventurers gets into the clutches of whatever authority is in power. Naturally, they push him to the wall; but if the world is to survive much of this kind of thing, brave men should be preserved. One day the world may need them in a higher cause. Courage is an affair of the heart, not of the uniform.

A friend writes to protest circuses left-at-the-home, as well as bill-stickers who post advertisements on your front fence and telephone clerks who suddenly open out of nowhere: Have you an automobile, a radio, an electric refrigerator, and quite a few other things. I used to protest, too; but I have given that up. Now I make a game out of it. It is a poor day when I cannot score three points for circuses-on-the-mail; ten whole points for a printed card thumb-tacked to my front door; and receive at least four telephone calls relative to the state of my household possessions, scoring two points each. That makes twenty-six points. Thirty points is the game, and often we can finish it in a single forenoon.

The milk strike is still under way in a large section of the Atlantic seaboard. Latest news from the front states that eleven distributing firms, requiring 200,000 gallons of milk daily, have agreed with the "milk producers"; but that several others are still holding out for better terms, or better milk—it is not clear which. The cows, however, are still giving, bless their simple bovine hearts.

I should state that potatoes kissed by the Aurora Borealis, mentioned some time ago, have now passed through Vancouver and are on their way to New York from Matanuska Valley, Alaska. In spite of all I said, too! I warned them that the State of New York grows potatoes; that the WPA and the AAA, and the ETC especially foster the production of tubers there, and that at least 700,000 tons of vegetables were raised by amateur gardeners this crop season alone in the environs of New York. In passing through Vancouver the potato-funding car dropped off a sack of spuds at the City Hall; but, really, that was unnecessary, because Vancouver has a quota on potatoes now—so many sacks for the pigs and so many for the public—under marketing control. Now, if they had brought down a slice of the Northern Lights, that would be marketable almost anywhere.

A voice specialist in the East stated that men are attracted to women who speak with low-pitched voices, like a blue singer in private life, as it were. The specialist states men are antagonized by high-pitched voices, at near the mark. He disagrees with an expert, but the thought persists that men are really attracted mostly by the absence of voices, and not by their presence at all. Personally, if there were a torch singer around my home, I would hang her out on the clotheslines and distract the premises immediately.

It is probably a symptom of the age that it is teachers who are going to school now, and pupils who are going out on the playing fields to have fun. There are Winter and Summer courses for teachers, and normal schools where Winter, Summer, Autumn and Spring are all made use of in turn. Across the

Women's Council to Sponsor Course of Special Addresses

Dr. Nadina Kavinoky Coming Here Saturday, November 27, to Conduct Institute on "Sex And Living"—Other Matters Discussed

R. Nadina R. Kavinoky, Los Angeles, who made one of the most important contributions to Pan-Pacific Women's Conference sessions in Vancouver during the past summer, is to conduct an institute on "Sex and Living" under the sponsorship of the Victoria Local Council of Women on Saturday, November 27. Meetings, which will continue throughout the day, will be held in the Memorial Hall.

Details of Dr. Kavinoky's programme were announced at the regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women, yesterday afternoon, at the Y.W.C.A., this showing that five lectures in all would be given by the distinguished speaker. The morning lectures will be open to professional groups only. She will meet members of the local medical profession at the luncheon meeting. Afternoon lectures will be for parents and leaders; and the evening meeting will be for parents and young people. Further information may be had by communicating with Dr. Richard Felton, Miss A. L. Mess, or Miss Margaret Clay.

PROVINCIAL QUARTERLY

Plans were made for the provincial quarterly meeting, which will be held here on November 23. There will be morning and afternoon sessions, and in the evening the executive of the Victoria Council will entertain the visiting delegates at the home of the president, Dr. Olga Jardine, Despard Avenue. The president, Dr. Jardine; the secretary, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins; Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, Mrs. J. L. White and Mrs. Alan Campbell were named as official delegates to the meeting, with Mrs. J. W. Gibson as an alternative.

Dealing with the resolutions arising from the minutes, Dr. Jardine reported that she had investigated what was being done in respect of retarded children's education. There were nineteen special classes in Vancouver, and only one in Victoria. A commission had sat on this question in 1925, when a recommendation had been made that a special school for retarded children should be set up in British Columbia.

Concerning a resolution forwarded by the Kamloops Council, asking that assault cases and rape cases should be heard in camera, and for which endorsement was sought by the Victoria Local Council, Dr. Jardine reported that she and Mrs. Gibson had called on the deputy attorney-general, who had stated that so far as he knew there had not been a case of the kind in British Columbia that had not been heard in camera.

SUBMITS RESIGNATION

The council received a letter from Miss Marjorie Hill, corresponding secretary, asking to be relieved from her duties owing to illness. This was accepted with regret, and the executive was authorized to appoint a successor.

Mrs. William McManus gave a report for the films committee, citing what had been accomplished in the United States by the Legion of Decency in elevating the standard of pictures. She paid tribute to what had been done along these lines for Victoria by the late Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas, convenor of this committee for the local council.

In the absence of Mrs. Rose Burns, convenor of the art and drama committee, Mrs. Ross read her interesting report covering the history of the drama in North America for the past twenty-five years.

RECEIVES MONEY

The council yesterday received a report from Mrs. Jane Galbraith, treasurer of the special fund started some years ago to establish an endowment for a children's operation table. During five years the fund amounted to $2,375, with Mrs. Annie Booth as convenor. Over 400 patients had been treated during that time at the Jubilee Hospital, and seven at St. Joseph's. The fund was now closed, and Mrs. Galbraith handed the residue, $5, back to the council.

Mrs. Booth, by a happy coincidence, was in Victoria yesterday from Port Alberni, where she is now living, and was welcomed by the council and congratulated on receiving the Coronation Medal.

PEACE SPEAKERS

Members were reminded of the meeting to be addressed at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night by Prof. L. A. Mande, of the University of Washington, his subject to be "What of the League of Nations Now?"

Mrs. H. P. Hodges held the tense interest of the meeting for half an hour, while she told the story of "Peace and War Played by Women." In this address, which she originally prepared and gave for the Y.W.C.A. Current Events Group last winter, she covered the history of women's activities in promotion of International Peace and Disarmament from the time of Julia Ward Howe, the Marchioness of Aberdeen, Frances Willard, Jane Addams and Carrie Chapman Catt right down to the present time, when women's organizations play a leading role in the movement to crush the "hydras-headed monster, war."

The present world-condition was said to be the speaker's a terrific challenge to women to bring the full weight of their influence through the ballot and otherwise, to make peace an accomplished fact.

Farmer: "And mind you give the cows a lot of chaff."

New York: "Yes sir, I appreciate a bit of fun myself."

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of ex-members of the Seventh Battalion will be held at the Britannia Branch Canadian Legion, Saturday evening. The slate of officers for the coming year will be chosen.

SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCIL TOMORROW

A special meeting of the City holders' committee circular on the Council will be held at 3:30 o'clock, refunding plan will be discussed. The slate of officers for the coming year will be chosen.

MAKES PLEA TO REKINDLE PEACE SPIRIT

Rev. Canon Wickens Delivers Stirring Remembrance Day Message

URGES ACCEPTANCE OF CHRIST'S CHALLENGE

"We must rekindle that spirit exemplified in the war days, the spirit of loyalty to King and country. The challenge today is the challenge of Christ, a greater King—and upon the answer to His challenge depends the safety and peace of the world," declared Rev. Canon Wickens in a stirring message in the cause of peace, delivered at the Remembrance Day service in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday.

The advisory board of the Farmers' Institutes, representing the ten districts of British Columbia, met in the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning at the call of Hon. Dr. C. Macdonald, Minister of Agriculture. The day was taken up with business that had come up from all agricultural sections of the province.

This morning the board will meet the select standing committee of agriculture, to discuss matters which may result in legislation.

The membership of the board is composed of A. B. Smith, Cranbrook, chairman; O. B. Appleton, Nelson; Joe MacKinnon, Revelstoke; W. F. Palmer, Kamloops; E. MacKenzie, Prince George; G. H. Helgeson, Merritt; R. C. Biss, Forest Grove; R. Blackburn, Prince George; C. J. Killer, Telkwa; and Thomas Jamison, Pouce Coupe.

SENTIMENT AGAINST WAR

"There is a strong revulsion of feeling in some minds against war, so much so that some of the returned men have been asked whether they made a mistake in going overseas," Canon Wickens said. "Those men do not want to be called heroes but they object to being called fools. They believe that their four years were not wasted. Their intention was to destroy the war spirit."

"For a time the spirit of war had been overthrown, but it has now been resurrected, and we have not yet realized our peace," the speaker continued. A reason for this failure was that memories were too poor; the people came to the Centenary once a year, and forgot what it stood for on all the other 364 days.

CHALLENGE OF CHRIST

Canon Wickens appealed to the congregation to accept the challenge of Christ, and closed with the words of Kant, who said that war would be eliminated by reasonable men for reasons of peace.

This contention the speaker challenged.

B.C. Legislature To Adjourn Again For Five-Day Halt

THE first session of the Nineteenth Legislature may become known as the stop-and-go session. Adjourning for one day after it opened, the session will run into another recess this week. After the close of proceedings on Wednesday, the House will be adjourned five days until Tuesday afternoon, members of the Liberal caucus were told last evening. The recess will include the holiday on Remembrance Day, a free day Friday, and the formal opening of the Pattullo Bridge on Monday next.

declaring that war would be eliminated only for religious reasons.

Indicative of the growing interest in the cause of peace, the congregation on Sunday was fully 200 greater than that of last year's service. The Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. E. W. Hamber, and Mrs. Hamber, Premier T. D. Pattullo and members of his cabinet, Mayor Andrew McGavin and members of the City Council, with their wives, and naval and military representatives were present, and various clergymen of the city took part in the service.

COLORS RECEIVED

Before the service commenced, the colors of the Army and Navy Veterans, Naval Veterans, District Council of the Canadian Legion, Rainbow Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides were carried by the standard bearers up the centre aisle to be received by the clergy and placed in the choir.

Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, presided over the service and pronounced the benediction at its conclusion. Rev. Alan Gardner led in prayer, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson gave the Scripture reading prior to the address by Canon Wickens.

The band of the Britannia Branch Canadian Legion, under G. A. Bain, provided the music, and the whole congregation joined in the singing of "O God, Our Help," "God of Our Fathers" and "O Valiant Hearts." The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by A. B. Drysdale of the Rainbow Sea Cadets, and the service closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

"THRIFTY DOLLARS" BENEFIT ALL CANADA

TO countless Canadian homes, money from Life Insurance means food, clothing, shelter and other necessities of life—for the widow and fatherless—and for men and women whose earning days are over.

Every section of the Dominion—farm, village, town and city—share in these Life Insurance payments. Likewise, every class of people benefit—particularly the families in humble homes.

Thrifty Life Insurance dollars help to make thousands independent of private charity or public relief—thus benefiting all Canada.

The above map indicates how these Life Insurance dollars were distributed to the people of the nine provinces in 1936.

MINES TOUCHED OFF

The bombardment started at 7 a.m. with Chinese trench mortars and anti-aircraft batteries opening a return fire against the Japanese artillerists and bombing squadrons. Even this din was drowned out at times as Japanese engineers exploded mines beneath the city's ponderous walls.

Great fire dotted the city as the shells and bombs found their marks. Hand-to-hand fighting still faced the Japanese, however, in the northwest sector of the city, where a Chinese "suicide" division of 5,000 took the invaders.

A virtual occupation of Shandai now frees Japan's hand for a general offensive in Honan and Shantung Provinces.

an indication of the feeling all across Canada. He said that while Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Federal Conservative party, referred to him as "the man who saved Canada" during the depression years, Mr. Maitland made no reference to the necessity of keeping intact Empire trade agreements and standing by the men "who stand by the Empire and Empire traditions, lest we follow the present Prime Minister along the road of 1911." He referred to reciprocity with the United States.

The speaker declared he would place two important issues in the by-election campaign. First, he said, he would ask the C.C.F. candidate, J. King Gordon, to define his stand on the Japanese question. "This is an issue that is more vital to the people of British Columbia than ever before and I think Mr. Gordon owes it to the people of Victoria to say what position the C.C.F. takes."

Coupled with them were suggestions for a brighter New Year's celebration in this city. These have not passed beyond the committee stage.

At Christmastide, however, citizens will be asked to beautify their residences with lights and floodlighting, effect place seasonal figures on lawns and driveways. It is anticipated that a series of prizes will be awarded winners of various classes.

Following a suggestion that the Junior Chamber again inaugurate the Home Products Fair here, it was pointed out by various members that a Lumber and Allied Industries Fair might have a wider appeal. A committee will investigate the matter and report at a subsequent meeting.

THE KING'S HIGHWAY

The suggestion that main roads in British Columbia be called "The King's Highway" was received from Mrs. William Ellis, provincial censor, Provincial Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. The chamber approved the suggestion in principle, in so far as it is practicable, and will send letters to that effect to Mrs. Ellis and the Department of Public Works.

"We shall be pleased to co-operate to make your citizens more air-minded," wrote J. P. Adams, executive secretary of the Seattle Junior Chamber of Commerce, in answer to a letter from the local organization asking aid in having a Boeing clipper brought here. Mr. Adams pointed out that the clipper would not be built for several months, but at the end of that time "we shall be glad to intercede on behalf of."

NEED FOR SUPPORT

Mr. Maitland, in conclusion, attacked the C.C.F. Party and its activities during the last five years. The idea of the C.C.F. seems to be to tear down the traditions of this country and its institutions. It is a party made up of people who seem to have an obsession that drives them into the political arena.

Interesting Wedding Is Celebrated

Two of the oldest pioneer families of Saanich were united by the wedding which took place at St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, on Friday evening between Besie Partridge, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner, 733 Oliver Street, Victoria, and Mr. Moran Julius Brethour, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Marian Brethour and the late George Brethour, Sidney.

Rev. J. S. A. Baistic officiated, and the church was attractively decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers and foliage.

BRIDE'S GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a radiant figure in her simple floor-length frock of pale blue brocade with short veil held by pins with a coronet of silver leaves. Her bouquet was of snapdragons and pink roses.

Miss Loretta Pope, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing a graceful full-skirted dress of peach taffeta with silver leaves in her hair, and carrying a bouquet of deep pink chrysanthemums.

Mr. Gordon Douglas, Courtenay, was groomsman, and Mr. Peter Turgoose and Mr. S. Cochran were the ushers.

PEIONEER CONNECTION

After the ceremony, a largely attended reception was held at the Pioneer Log Cabin at Saanichton, where both the bride's and bridegroom's families helped to build and where many articles from the pioneer homes of both families are now preserved.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Fred Turgoose, dressed in mauve-printed chiffon with a corsage of pink carnations, and Mrs. Marian Brethour in dark green figured crepe with a matching corsage bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake which centred the bride's table was of more than ordinary interest in that the ornament which topped it was used more than thirty years ago at the wedding of Mrs. James Stewart, the bride's aunt.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Q. Day, Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pope, Mr. James Sutherland and Miss D. Green, all of Duncan. The young couple left for a honeymoon in Seattle. On their return they will reside in Sidney.

"Remember, my boy," said the elderly relative, sententiously, "that wealth does not bring happiness."

"I don't think it to," answered the young man. "I merely want to so that I may be able to choose the kind of misery that is most agreeable to me."

Her Excellency Pays Tribute to Veterans of War

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (C.P.)—Lady Tweedsmuir told a meeting of Poppy Day campaign workers today she would be a "very ungrateful woman" if she did not take an interest in war veterans. The Great War was still a vivid picture in the minds of all those who lived through that period, and too much gratitude could not be expressed to men who had saved homes and country, she said.

Lady Tweedsmuir referred to the united effort made during the war, and said it was unfortunate that this did not prevail to such an extent in the post-war period. Her Excellency wished workers every success with their campaign and hoped next year's efforts would exceed this year's.

Business Women Meet.

Mr. J. B. Clearyne, K.C., was the speaker at the supper meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club last evening at the Y.W.C.A., his subject being "Canada's Contribution to Peace." He dealt mainly with Canada's opportunity to co-operate with the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations with regard to promoting world peace. Miss Elsie Richardson expressed the club's thanks to the speaker. Mrs. Ferguson was in the chair. Miss Margaret Clay invited the club members to be her guests on the occasion of National Night, which will be celebrated in the clubroom on November 18. Plans were discussed for the old-time fashion parades and tea to be held in the club room on Saturday, November 13, from 3 to 6 o'clock. The fashion parade will start at 4 o'clock, and there will also be a table of home cooking. Games of skill will be added attraction. An expert card reader, teacup reader, and crystal gazer will be in attendance, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Weddings

Mackenzie-Newnam

On Saturday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the secretary-minister, Rev. A. deB. Owen, the marriage was solemnized of Phoebe Amelia, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Newnam, and Mr. Charles Russell Mackenzie, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie, Vancouver. The charming bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. J. Newnam, wore an attractive powder-blue dress with buttonhole accessories and a corsage bouquet of white camellias. Attending the bride was her cousin, Miss Joyce Warren, who was becomingly attired in a French grey tweed suit with coral accessories, and wore a corsage bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. The groom was supported by Mr. James Miller.

After the service, the guests were entertained by the bride's parents at their home, when they were received by Mrs. Jewsbury in a becoming gown of rust crepe, with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds. Mr. Oddy was best man.

After the service, the guests were entertained by the bride's parents at their home, when they were received by Mrs. Jewsbury in a becoming gown of rust crepe, with white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds. The mother of the bride was unable to attend. A buffet supper was served from a table centred with the bride's cake, surmounted by a tiny silver bell suspended from an arch of orange blossoms, and flanked with maple tapers in Flemish paper shades. The cake had been decorated by the bride's brother.

After a honeymoon spent in Vancouver, she visited Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie, who make their home in Victoria. Among the presents she received was a case of flat silverware from the bride's former associates of David Soper, Ltd. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie, Vancouver, and Captain and Mrs. W. H. C. Warren, Chemainus.

Among the many gifts were a Chesterfield table from the former fellow-employees of the bride at the Dominion Theatre, and a mantel clock from the staff of the Major House, where the groom is employed.

DUNALFE-FAIRLEY

The marriage took place quietly in Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon of Alison Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fairley, Vancouver, and Mr. Walter John Douglas Dunale, son of Mrs. Warren, Chemainus.

The bride looked charming in an Autumn brown figure dress with a beret hat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

For traveling she wore a brown fur-trimmed coat. She was attended by Mrs. C. J. Denby, wearing a dark blue coat with black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Fairley was best man. After the ceremony a small reception was held at the bride's home, only immediate relatives attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairley left for a short honeymoon in Vancouver, and on their return will live in Victoria.

KELLINE-FAHEY

The marriage took place on Saturday, October 30, in Toronto, at the home of the bride's parents, 145 St. George Street, when Miss Nora Winifred Fahey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald Fahey, became the bride of Mr. Llewellyn Trueman Kellie, Toronto, son of Mrs. Olivia D. Kellie Lindsay, of Orangefield. Rev. George O. Fallon conducted the ceremony in the presence of fifty guests. The bride wore a becoming brown traveling dress, with gold accessories, and was given, in marriage, by her father. Her attendant was Mrs. Ken W. MacTaggart. Mr. MacTaggart was best man. After the service the bride's mother, Madame Lugrin Fahey, well-known concert and church soloist, sang "Song of the Open Road" and "Still Wie Die Nacht." Miss Rita Cramer played the wedding march. A reception was held later. Mr. and Mrs. Kellie will reside at the Kenwood Apartments, 31 Grosvenor Street, Toronto.

This charming picture, for which the little girl and boy posed quite unconsciously, was taken in the conservatory at the Empress Hotel, among some of the hundreds of magnificent blooms to be shown at the annual Chrysanthemum Tea, to be held in the ballroom next Saturday afternoon. In connection with the affair the augmented Empress Hotel concert orchestra, under William Tickle's direction, will give a special programme, which will feature the lightly classical type of music "Voices of Spring" (Strauss), "Musical Gems" (Tchaikowsky), "Blossom Time" (Rimberg), "Czardas" (Monti), and "London Suite" (Eric Coates) being among the selections promised.

Horse Show Will Be an Attraction In Mid-December

THE Winter Horse Show to be held at the Willowas on Friday evening, December 17, and Saturday afternoon, December 18, promises to be one of the most spectacular ever given here. The members of the Victoria Riding Club and others taking part in the programme will meet for their first rehearsal on Thursday at 8 p.m.

The special matinee on December 18 is to be arranged, primarily, for children, and a large number of juniors are to take part. The show is being sponsored by the Junior W.A. of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Kitchen Shower
Mrs. Mary Thackeray, whose marriage will take place shortly, was the guest of honor recently, when Mrs. F. Taylor entertained at a kitchen shower at her home, 2239 Dalhousie Street. Miss Thackeray was presented with a corsage bouquet of pale pink carnations, and the gifts were arranged beneath a spider umbrella decorated in pink and blue. A sit-down supper was served from a table centred with pale pink roses in silver vases, upon a base of pink tulles. The invited guests were: Madames F. Thackeray, E. Symons, R. Wallace, W. Pearson, L. Walker, W. Griffin Sr., W. Griffin, Jr., O. Griffin, J. Johnson, L. Pomeroy, J. Britt, T. Chatell, L. Harris, M. Harris, D. Taylor, E. Sisson, H. Hoosen, R. Venes, J. Booth, L. Walker, E. Lacey, C. Blaize, G. Hawkins, W. Gurney, K. Kilow, M. V. and J. Griffin, N. Johnson and R. and H. Thackeray.

Tea Hostess

Miss Muriel Chadwick entertained at her home, 1039 Richardson Street, on Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Barbara Grant, whose marriage to Mr. H. J. Barratt will take place this month. The guest of honor was presented with a gift, concealed in a large colonial bouquet of carnations and rosebuds, accompanied by the good wishes of her friends. Later tea was served and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. F. W. Grant, Mrs. T. Brown, Mrs. H. Henry and Miss Mary Tindall. The invited guests were: Madames F. W. Grant, T. Brown, H. Street, R. B. Mathews, H. Clark, N. Johnson and R. and H. Thackeray.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Macfarlane, 356 Moss Street, will celebrate their golden wedding Friday.

Five years ago in Ottawa, Ont., Rev Dr. Herridge united David Robert Macfarlane and Esther Isabella Porter in marriage. Mr. Macfarlane went to the Yukon in 1898 and the family moved to Dawson City in 1902. They came to Victoria in 1910 and have resided here ever since with the exception of two years in Cumberland. Mr. Macfarlane is chairman of the Legion Contingent Board. Their six children: Eddie D. Macfarlane, Vancouver; Mrs. James Morcom, Calgary; Athol Macfarlane, Vancouver; Mrs. Lois Fraser, Victoria; David C. Macfarlane, Nanaimo; Mrs. Barbara Zala, Victoria; and eight grandchildren. Due to Mrs. Macfarlane's ill health, no reception will be held.

Engagement Announced

The engagement has been announced in Vancouver of Grace Ann, only daughter of the late Mr. R. J. Cromie and Mrs. Cromie, Vancouver, to Dr. John (Jack) Andrew Wright, son of Mrs. Jane Wright, Vancouver. The bride-to-be was educated at the Sacred Heart Convent, Vancouver; Strathcona Lodge School, Shawnigan Lake, V.I., and in Lausanne, Switzerland. Dr. Wright attended the University School, Victoria; Gonzaga College, Spokane, and McGill University. He is well known as a tennis player, and was a member of the Canadian Davis Cup team, which played at Wimbledon in 1928.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Marion Dey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dey, Walton Street, entertained a number of her school friends on Saturday afternoon, the occasion of her birthday, taking them to the Capitol Theatre and later to tea at the Hudson's Bay Company. In the party were End Brown, Sheila Graves, Doris Lancaster, Frances Crookford, Dorothy Anderson, Kay Shute, Barbara Moreby, Barbara Purser and Joyce and Marion Dey.

Out of Hospital

Friends of Mrs. E. Jenkins will be pleased to learn that she has now returned to her home, Argyle Court, 424 Linden Avenue, after being a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital for the past week, recovering from a broken shoulder, sustained through a fall.

Miss Fairley Is Married to A. S. Morton

The marriage of Helen Essy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ault Fairley, Vancouver, to Mr. Arthur Samuel Morton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Morton, Victoria, took place at Knox United Church, Vancouver, on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. Rev. A. F. Munro officiating. Chrysanthemums matching in tones to the gowns of the bride's attendants formed the background for the ceremony. White chrysanthemums and satin bows marked the guest pews.

PRETTY BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown fashioned in Empire style, the softly draped bodice featuring a V-neckline and long sleeves, tapering to points over the hands. Self-covered buttons marked the long back panel, which ended in a short graceful train. Her net veil fell softly from a coronet of tiny pleatings of the net. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

Autumn tones in velvet were chosen by the bride's two attendants, her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. J. Fairley, as matron of honor, choosing rust, and Miss Muriel Goode, bridesmaid, gold. Their gowns, made alike, were also in the Empire mode, featuring short puffed sleeves and long graceful skirts, with halo hats to tone. They carried chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

LEADERS GROUP TO HEAR TALKS

Senior Class Members of Y.M.C.A. To Be Given Ten Lectures On Physiology

Commencing at 7:45 o'clock this evening, Dr. E. Levinson will begin a series of ten lectures on physiology, to be given fortnightly, to members of the Senior Leaders' Corps of the Y.M.C.A. The meeting, at which the speaker will be heard, will be preceded by the regular workout of the group at 7 o'clock.

Next week-end the seniors will journey to Sooke, where they plan to hold a set-up meeting to make arrangements for the Winter's programme. They will leave here Saturday evening, returning Sunday. Officers for the coming year were chosen by the junior leaders' corps at a luncheon meeting in the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday. Grant Willis was returned as president, and Douglas Marsland was named vice-president. Tom Harding was the boys' choice for secretary-treasurer.

On November 27, the junior squad will hold a big dinner to honor the visit of Nelson-McEwan, Toronto, National Boys' Work Secretary. Mr. McEwan is expected to address the gathering.

The boys also decided to change their uniforms to black gymnasium vests, and obtain new gymleader group emblems for their sweaters.

ISLAND GIVEN WARM PRAISE

Replies by Visitors to Questionnaires Received by Publicity Bureau

Praise for Victoria and the Island as a whole is far in excess of any questionnaires sent out to 6,000 United States car owners who visited the Island, showed yesterday.

Printed forms, with stamped reply envelopes, were forwarded to a representative number of Americans by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. "The interest manifested by these visitors is extremely encouraging. This is the best response we have had so far," commented George I Warren, commissioner, yesterday.

The replies are in some cases amusing, and all are of interest. "We came to see the British Jack flying once again," writes a Los Angeles correspondent. A former visitor from Oakland comments that "the hanging baskets on street lamps were most interesting."

A Bakersfield visitor, asked what attracted him most to Vancouver Island, declared it was Stanley Park and Capilano Canyon. Later, he points out, that "visitors to Nanaimo and Duncan should be informed when the roads are being tarred and oiled." He declares that on two visits to the Island, he has been forced to have his car cleaned after driving through newly tarred surfaces.

PEOPLE CHARMING
"Your people are charming stores reasonable, auto camps clean and moderately priced," remarks a Berkeley correspondent. A fellow-earlier visitor to Victoria, and the teacher had forbidden the children to eat candy or chew gum during school time. One day she became suspicious of a bump in Jimmy's cheek.

"Jimmy," she said, reprovingly, "are you eating candy or chewing gum?"

"Neither one," replied Jimmy. "I'm soaking a prune to eat at recess."

CHAPTER XXI

Syrie flew to the windows and opened them both wide, and then into the bedroom, opening that window wide also, then she drew a long breath of relief.

"Ough! . . . I should have killed her if she'd stayed any longer," she told herself.

She went back to the sitting-room and punched the cushions against which the old lady had rested; then she put the coffee cups on the tray and rang for Tompkins. He looked at her with a queer sort of sympathy in his pale eyes.

EXCITED

Sailor: We just dropped anchor, lady.

Lady: I thought you would. It's been dangling for some time.

CHAPTER XXI

"I hope I gave you every satisfaction, Miss—Malam," he faltered.

"I think you're splendid," Syrie told him, and then she asked, rather wistfully: "Is Miss Harwood always as—difficult?"

Tompkins hesitated before answering. "They do say that some dogs bark more easily than they bite."

Syrie laughed. "You're a diplomat, Tompkins," she said.

She was sorry when Tompkins had gone—he was human anyway, she told herself.

"Well?" Robert asked with a slight smile as he shut the door behind him.

"Has she really—gone?" Syrie said. "I think she's—awful."

"You'll get used to her; she means well."

"Means well?" Syrie's voice was full of scorn.

Robert was mixing a whisky and soda. "Have one?" he asked.

"No thank you." There was a little silence before she asked, "Who is this Joan Baker?"

He answered with his back still turned to her. "Oh, she's . . . a girl I used to know. Betsy never thought much of her really. She just said all that stuff tonight—to annoy you."

"I wasn't in the least annoyed; I should like to meet her."

"I know—but Betsy hoped you would be annoyed."

"How hateful of her," Syrie replaced a flower which had fallen from its vase. "I suppose Joan was in love with you," she said presently.

He glanced over his shoulder at her, and there was a little twinkle in his handsome eyes. "Jealous, my lamb?" he asked merrily.

Syrie flushed. "Don't be absurd, add it's only a way to avoid answering—to ask another question," and then as he did not speak: "Was she in love with you?"

"I didn't like me," Robert admitted. "I couldn't have stood her—not as a wife, too, too, well, too utterly too, too, if you know what that means."

"Too—good?" Syrie inquired.

Robert nodded. "She'd got life fixed on rails—if you know what I mean—and she never allowed it to run off."

Silence again till Syrie said: "She'd never done—what I'm doing—would she?"

He turned around, tumbling in hand. "What are you doing?" he asked.

She flushed a little. "Well—living with you-like this."

"She wouldn't have had the pluck," he said generously. "She wouldn't have . . . trusted me enough, either."

"I'm not sure that you are—altogether to be trusted," Syrie retorted. "Liar!"

They looked at each other, and Syrie said, "What was she like? Quite different from me, I suppose."

Before you make any self-sacrifice this day be sure that the one you make it for is deserving of it and will appreciate what you are doing.

"The right sort of service will be demanded of those seeking the public's patronage, and the wrong kind will result in a great many of this day's disagreeable arguments. It will be good judgment to be very diplomatic in any matter involving a radical difference of opinion. There may be due to an unaccountable desire for speed,

"Quite different."

"Tall for one thing?"

"Yes—a head taller than you are."

"And—dark?"

His eyes wandered over her pretty head. "Darker than you," he admitted.

"You're not very eloquent," Syrie said. "Describe her—tell me something about her."

He looked a little embarrassed. "I'm no good at describing women—but she . . . well, she had rather nice eyes—rather . . . he groped for a word, "rather pathetic eyes," he said after a moment.

Syrie laughed. "I expect that was only when she looked at you," she said unkindly. "It sounds feeble to me—very feeble to wear her heart on her sleeve."

"Who said she wore her heart on her sleeve?"

JOE E. BROWN IS NEWS REPORTER

"Fit for a King" Presents Comedy Star As Visitor in Mythical Kingdom

Joe E. Brown in "Fit for a King," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre, foresees the "small town" boy character he has made famous.

This new adventure, said to be one of the most hilarious the comedian has ever had, takes place mostly in Europe, with France and a mythical European kingdom serving as the scenes of action.

Offering all the appeal of a modern romance in the "Graustark" manner, with the additional attraction of Brown as "the man from home," "Fit for a King" is intended to prove a delightful experience for followers of the cavern-mouthed laugh-maker.

Joe is cast as a news reporter who sent to cover a political plot in the kingdom, and his battle with intriguing diplomats and rival reporters form the basis for the story.

What is your opening lead, and why?

Answer—You should lead a diamond. On the bidding North and South have a total of at least eight diamonds, perhaps nine. You have four diamonds, therefore your partner is very short. He may be able to ruff the first lead. But almost certainly (unless North made a "psychic" diamond takeout originally) your partner will be able to ruff your second diamond lead, when you get in with the trump ace. This is very apt to be the entire deal:

NORTH
▲ J 8
▼ 10 4
● K 10 5
◆ A Q 10

WEST
▲ A 2
▼ K Q 9 7 5
● 9 7 6 4

SOUTH
▲ A K 7 5
▼ A 10 8
● K 10 7
◆ 8 6 4

The bidding:
NORTH
1 ♠ PASS
2 NT PASS
3 NT (final bid)

Attention is called to North's last bid. I have heard many players, with hands of precisely the North type, pass to no trump on the not unreasonable ground that they had "already advertised their full strength and therefore had no right to bid again." It is quite true that the same values should not be bid twice. But unfortunately this precept sometimes is in direct conflict with an even more important bit of logic—namely, that on constructive (nondefensive) bidding it is usually foolish to stop just one short of game.

In this hand North cannot possibly tell whether or not nine tricks can be developed. He must realize, however, that he already is at an eight trick contract where there will be little to gain. Surely it is worth while to incur some additional risk for the chance of great additional profit.

It will be seen that the luck of the opening lead favors declarer at his three no trump contract. A heart lead by West would be fatal, but as it happens West leads his fourth diamond, which assures declarer of two diamond tricks and stops him.

The club suit is immediately cleared by ducking one round, and even if East shifts to a heart declarer can hold up his ace for two rounds and eventually take nine tricks against the best defence.

Attention is called to North's last bid. I have heard many players, with hands of precisely the North type, pass to no trump on the not unreasonable ground that they had "already advertised their full strength and therefore had no right to bid again." It is quite true that the same values should not be bid twice. But unfortunately this precept sometimes is in direct conflict with an even more important bit of logic—namely, that on constructive (nondefensive) bidding it is usually foolish to stop just one short of game.

Prime Minister and Hon. Ian Mackenzie Send R. W. Mayhew Telegrams

R. W. Mayhew, the unanimous choice of Victoria Liberals to contest the by-election here November 29, made necessary by the death of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, yesterday received telegrams of congratulations and good wishes from Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Captain the Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence.

Mr. Mackenzie King wired:

"Please accept my heartiest congratulations upon your nomination as the Liberal standard-bearer in the pending by-election in Victoria and my best wishes for your return as the representative of the constituency in the House of Commons."

"Heartiest congratulations on your nomination and best wishes for your success," read Captain Mackenzie's message.

Safecrackers at Work in Kootenay

NELSON, B.C., Nov. 8 (C)—British Columbia police tonight searched through the interior Kootenay area for a gang of "expert" safecrackers who blasted open a meat market, safe at Salmo, thirty miles south of here, Sunday.

The shattered safe in the Salmon-Murtle Meat Market was discovered early today. A .32 calibre automatic pistol, $75 in cash, $25 in gold dust, sixty-three bank money order worth $50 each and four watches had been stolen.

FROZEN FIRE

BY FLORIS CLARK MCLEAREN

(Reviewed by Alan Crawford)

In this little book, a collection of thirty poems, I have found something that is very rare.

From its pages a voice has spoken straight to me and I can understand. I can see "nauts-shouldered mountains" and "the poplars march along the tea of the hill." I have held my hands in the waters of "dark lakes half hidden in thrusting slopes of pine." What does it matter that I have never known the hills and swift streams and shacks nestling in the valleys which form bits of the pattern in the memory of this writer and from which so many of the poems are made? They have captured and brought to me that strange nostalgic calm that comes after much longing for places and things so far away in space and time which is the mood of this book. I have read here words I could not find for myself and surely in "Mountain Dread" that cry:

Dear God to see a taper of grain

In woven light and shadow by the wind

in the great sun-gilded bowl of plains

is written for me.

The title of the book is also that of the beautifully written first poem, but it is "Bits of the Pattern" which follows that sets and explains most of the subsequent poems, and of which they might so well form a part. Throughout them all there runs a procession of clear cut and definite images strong in appeal.

Although the writer has separated the poems, which are definitely woven from her memories, they are linked together by one mood and are the best writing in the book.

Perhaps the one which most clearly shows Mrs. McLaren's mastery of her difficult medium and her achievement of ample direct expression and pruning to bare necessities is "Speedy Gift of Daylight".

In this brief season when the sun returns

To warm the treeless hills and rivers run

Unhindered, we are prodigal of sun.

Spendthrift of daylight, bright unmeasur-

able wealth, we squander it,

Spill through our ceaseless fountains. We

We should hold

The sun in our hearts, against the cold

When green auroras flicker on the snow.

We should be miners hoarding these hours of light

As day flows undivided into day,

Set them a wall, against the advancing night.

A thin defense to keep the dark at bay.

Then there is the delightful and vivid picture in "Field of the Wild" and to contrast "Deep Pool" with its rhymed couplets of beauty of thought and music that even W. H. Davies would like to have written and the homesickness in "Contrary Heart" lingers in the reader long after the book has been laid down.

Many readers may prefer the poems that tell a story — "Light-house Keeper's Daughter," "Gene's Bride" and "Shadow of Mountains" in which the writer so well shows her ability to make narrative verse, but, to me, these and "Cheechako," "Stampede Bill" and "Reflections of Constable Peters" are less interesting, camera pictures, snapshots taken in passing, and lacking the warmth of color and sensibility that flow so naturally in the shorter lyrics.

This is Mrs. McLaren's first book and so there is in it some unevenness, but there are so many of the poems that contain sure evidences of her skill and deep feeling that it places her in the first rank of modern Canadian poets. Looking down the book and returning to the close ness of city houses and noises of the urban day, the reader under stands the emotion which wells up in the lines:

Always to find having once tasted there
Still waters tasteless and green lowlands bare.

which closes the poem "Hill Water."

Certainly this is a book which all lovers of poetry should have and read and from which several poems and many lines should be gathered into their own anthologies.

Binding and fine printing add much to the attractiveness of the book, from which so many things should be copied on scraps of paper and carried around in the pocket.

FIVE INVOLVED IN COURT CASE

Princess Elaine Passengers Charged With Having Caused Fight on Ship

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (C)—Five men appeared before Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson in police court here today on charges of causing an affray on the coastal steamer Princess Elaine and were remanded to Vancouver.

The five, Alfred Moran, Herman Bissonette, Peter Woten, Floyd Fisher and Thomas Marinick, were alleged to have become involved in a fight aboard the vessel shortly after she left Nanaimo for Vancouver yesterday.

The League of Nations had done a great deal of good in the world, declared Dr. Rickard, in spite of what might be said against it.

Probably the greatest shortcoming was the ineffectual function, due to the United States not entering the League. This was a weakness in the League.

LEAGUE SHOWS ITS WEAKNESS

Dr. T. A. Rickard Calls for Less Nationality and More Common Welfare

Addressing members of the Gyro Club yesterday in the Empress Hotel on "Remembrance Day," Dr. T. A. Rickard referred to the tendency in some quarters to make November 11 a day of jollification. This, he said, was wrong, and he complimented the Lieutenant-Governor on the example he was setting in attending church on that day.

The speaker set out the need of remembering those who gave their lives and the purpose for which they died. It was to recognize the interdependence of the nations of the earth. Instead of the principles for which they fought, they had remained on the earth today too much of the law of the jungle.

The League of Nations had done a great deal of good in the world, declared Dr. Rickard, in spite of what might be said against it.

Christianity was far deeper and a more ennobling aspiration than that of simple nationalism.

Civilization, properly understood, meant co-ordinate surrender of individual rights.

Loyalty should be put on a higher basis than nationality.

Nationalism presupposes rights, Dr. Rickard asserted.

There were, said the speaker, many erroneous ideas with regard to races. There never was an Aryan people, and the speaker referred to the mixing of various races in the creation of nationalities

Rangers Defeat Detroit Hockey Team With Ease

Lester Patrick's Squad Comes Through With 3-0 Decision Over Stanley Cup Champions in Sunday Match—Goalie Kerr Stars With Mates in Penalty Box in Final Period

(By the Canadian Press) Two years of playing second fiddle to hockey's world champions has done something to New York Rangers and Boston Bruins. As a new National League season begins they have amassed power and determination that may tear down the dominance of Detroit's haughty Red Wings.

Mindful of the beating they took from Red Wings in Stanley Cup finals last Spring, Lester Patrick's young Rangers bounded into Detroit with fine impudence on Sunday night and whipped the champions, 3-0. That startling result came on the heels of Boston's show of strength in defeating the Maroons, 4-2, at Montreal on Saturday.

The developments left the two winners tied for first place in the United States division after their first starts, a point ahead of Red Wings, who gained a tie in the opening at Toronto on Thursday.

The week-end's other game, bringing Maple Leaf's a 6-3 victory over New York Americans at Toronto on Saturday, placed the Leafs squarely in first place in the Canadian section. Their support was heightened in that Amerks are their closest rivals through a first-game victory, but the divisional champions, Montreal Canadiens, will not start the season until tomorrow, when they play Chicago at Montreal.

Two youngsters, whose stars began a rapid ascent last season, were the week-end's big scorers. Blonde Ray Getliffe got Bruins' first three goals against Maroons and Gordon Dillon hung up three of Leafs' first four scores in quelling Amerks.

Rangers' achievement, on the other hand, was one of all-round might. Two of the three forward lines got goals and the other was contributed by Butch Keeling, the old pinch-hitter, who is being used as a spare forward.

WEST ROAD IN CAGE VICTORY

Victoria Basketballeers Defeat Duncan by Four Points Up-Island

DUNCAN, Nov. 8 (CP)—In a ragged exhibition game of basketball played here Saturday evening, West Road senior "B" defeated Duncan by a score of 33 to 29. R. Michell, of West Road, played well for the visitors, making twenty-three of their points. At the half, Duncan led by two points, 16-14, but they were outscored in the second.

Kennett and Tait handled the games, and the teams were:

West Road—McHattie (1), R. Michell (23), B. Michell (6), A. Gunn, B. Gunn (1), K. Young (3). Total 33.

Duncan—Evans, Jack (6), Harbord (3), Lazier (10), Fletcher, Molshaw (11), When (5), Robertson (4). Total 29.

Kingham-Gillespie beat Duncan in the intermediate "A" class by a 39-31 score. They led all the way, the half-time score being 18-5.

Kingham-Gillespie—Miller (4), Price (2), Smart (6), Gent (13), Berry (4), Walker (8), T. McKeachie (2). Total 39.

Duncan—R. Motshaw (7), G. Whan (10), P. Frumento, Smith (3), Phillips (2), Work, White (4), Laidlaw (5). Total 31.

In a midget game Cowichan Station Scouts won from the Duncan elementary school team, 6 to 5. The Scouts scored their six points in the first half against the locals' three, and the home team secured an extra two points on a field goal by Ted Forrest in the second half.

Cowichan Station Scouts—B. Williams, Spiegelhalter, Robertson (4), R. Wilkinson, Hooper (2), Motherwell, S. Williams, C. Wilkinson. Total 6.

Duncan—Forrest (3), Mayea, Mason (2), Ming Ho, Weston, Gard, Presk, Wong. Total 5.

"Rep" Candidates To Train Tonight At Macdonald Park

Coach Wally Brynjolfson, who has the important assignment of selecting and training Victoria's 1937-38 "rep" Rugby fifteen, has called the first workout tonight at Macdonald Park at 8 o'clock. Players named by team coaches are asked to turn out and co-operate with the chief coach, in getting things started—preparatory to naming the fifteen for the game on the mainland on Saturday, December 4.

HUNT HEADS CADDIES BY ONE STROKE

Wins City Handicap Golf Tournament at Colwood Course With Net 71

Late in the third period both Joe Cooper and Ott Heller were penalized for holding, but Goalie Dave Kerr did a two-minute stretch of miracle-making while Detroit tried to take advantage of the edge in man-power.

Keeling got the goal that was good enough to win less than a minute before the end of the first period with Lynn Patrick and Mac Colville assisting. Then, as Red Wings tried to bear down in the final chapter, Rangers more than kept pace and Cecil Dillon tallied the aid of Phil Watson, and Alex Shubick ended the scoring on a relay from Neil and Mac Colville.

Boston threw an up-and-coming forward line from Kitchener, Ont., at the Maroons, and Eddie Shore, his back injury entirely healed, looked like the Shore of old on Bruins' bruising defense.

But Ray Getliffe dashed in from left wing through the Maroon defense post Lionel Conacher used to occupy to steal most of the opening night show.

Tommy Cook, released by Chicago for breaking training rules last season, lived up to all Coach King Clancy had promised as he scored Montreal's first goal in three minutes of play. Before the end of the period, Getliffe had sent his club ahead 2-1, however, and he clicked again in the second before Jimmy Ward counted for Maroons.

Boston's "baby line" of Mill Schmidt, Porky Dumart and Bobby Bauer broke away with Flash Hollett in the last period, and Schmidt finished the dash with the final goal. The defeat party spoiled Clancy's inaugural as coach, but he is an aggressive, relentless team that gave Montréal the best opener in years.

Ten thousand fans watched Gordon Dillon lead his forward line, whose other members are Harvey (Busher) Jackson and Syd Apps, in Toronto's sparkling victory. Dillon's three goals were augmented by Jackson's two and Apps and Jackson got assists.

N. SOUTH WALES SCORES 257 RUNS

BRISBANE, Nov. 8 (CP)—New South Wales hit up 257 runs against Queensland in the first match of the Sheffield Shield cricket competition here today. The Queenslanders had made thirty-nine for two wickets when bad light stopped play.

Stanley McCabe, clever New South Wales batsman, made 119 runs, giving a faultless display that lasted three hours thirty minutes. He hit fourteen fours.

Mostly Losses in Dropping Market On Wall Street

NEW YORK. Nov. 8 (AP).—The stock market came to a ragged end today after shifting confusedly throughout much of the session. At the finish losses of fractions to as much as 3 points predominated and contrasted with gains of fractions to around a point. There were 494 declines, 175 advances and 180 issues unchanged.

The Associated Press average of sixty shares was down 4 at 45.1. Transactions totaled 1,277,456, compared with 1,250,530 Friday.

Under mild but steady pressure all day, with the exception of a final purchasing flurry, most of the bond list dropped fractions to around 2 points today.

Lossing a point or more were Alcan 5s of 1950, Baltimore & Ohio 41-2s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Goodyear 5s and Illinois Central 4-3s at 40-5-8.

The foreign dollar section was generally lower.

BUYING FLURRIES STIFFEN MARKET

MONTRÉAL. Nov. 8 (C).—Last-minute buying flurries stiffened most stock market leaders late today, but many issues remained below preceding closes.

Smelters met light demand that brought a gain of 1 at 51-2, but Nickel and Noranda showed losses of more than a point each.

Dominion Steel "B" and United Steel showed fractional strength. Dominion Bridge was down a point at 30, while Steel of Canada and Cement declined fractions. International Petroleum did more than a point.

Canadian and Montreal Power firms minor amounts to 16-1-8 and 30-1-4 respectively. National Steel Car and St. Lawrence Corporation preferred eased a point.

Losses of more than 2 points showed in light selling for Abitibi preferred at 19-3-4.

TIME OUT!

By Chei Smith

Heck! Come to Think of It the Home Team Is on the Road This Week!

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Cards Nuthin', Maw... Skunk!!"

Jane Dixon Says:

ROUND-UP DAILY PROBLEMS: MANY LETTERS RECEIVED OFFERED HELP TO "HEART-BROKEN MOTHER"—TWO GIRLS WHO SHOULD GIVE LESS ATTENTION TO LOVE AFFAIRS AND CONCENTRATE ON FINDING WORTHWHILE FRIENDS—WOMEN'S UNDIGNIFIED ACTIONS IN THE PRESENCE OF ROBERT TAYLOR ARE DEPLORED—MISS DIXON'S FAVORITE PRESIDENT—SHOULD THE BRIDEGROOM'S MOTHER MAKE ALL THE PLANS FOR THE WEDDING?—A YOUNG WOMAN ADVISED TO MAKE HER FIANCÉ MAKE GOOD HIS PROMISES BEFORE MARRIAGE.

Round-Up Day

JLD—Sorry, but names of correspondents are held in strictest confidence. Letters from all parts of this country and Canada arrived bearing messages of cheer and offers of material help to "Heart-Broken Mother." Her problem has been solved. But thank you for being one of the kindly ones who stood ready to help.

Twins in Doubt—One of the most annoying things that can happen to a person with an idea of individual pride is to have it demanded, requiring, or begging for an answer the recipient does not care to give. Why don't you girls forget all this letter business? Write cheery, friendly letters when the boys write to you. And concentrate on finding worth-while friends and worth-while things to do in your new community. Only deathless love survives prolonged absence, and neither of your loves are in the eternal class at the present time. Clinging vines are not only annoying, but in time they become obnoxious. Don't cling to the past. Look to tomorrow!

Cleo—I know nothing more of Robert Taylor than what I see on the screen and read in the prints. I note that he does resent being called "beautiful," and no regular person would blame him for that resentment. I imagine that if a lot of silly women would stop making sights of themselves over a fine young man who is trying to do an honest job, it would be much easier for him to entertain them. I can imagine nothing more lowering to the feminine standard than a lot of wild women hooting, howling and waving autograph books at Mr. Taylor, who was changing planes in a Mid-West city for his vacation in the east. It took the police to stop an incipient petticoat riot. Shame on women for such behavior.

Mr. T. K. W.—Who is my favorite President? George Washington. There's never been another like him, since. A soldier, a diplomat; a political genius, a gentleman. You didn't tell me the name of your favorite President. Please do.

Angry Bride—Should the mother of the bridegroom make all the wedding plans? Mainly not unless she is footing all the bills for the wedding, and even then she may. In that case, she will consult the bride and the bridegroom and carry out as far as possible their ideas. I'm glad you are an angry bride instead of a subservient one. Explain courteously to the bridegroom's mother that you appreciate her helpfulness, but that you have ideas about your own wedding and that these ideas will be given just consideration. It is the bride's privilege, in consultation with the bridegroom, to designate the manner and place of her marriage.

Eleanor—The young man said he would do all of the things you asked of a prospective husband. He has done most of them. He tells you he will take care of them after he's sure he has you. Then the rub. Eleanor. Once he has you what are you doing to do if he fails you? Separation? Divorce? Save yourself more heartache and failure than you will ever know through a broken engagement, by requiring the young man to prove himself now. If he can't be the man you want him to be before marriage, it is five thousand to one that he will not be that man after marriage.

Harold—The Empire State Building is at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and 34th Street, New York City. By all means, if you are visiting the city, see it from the Empire Tower. You'll see a masterpiece of architecture with all nations, all genius, all industry, all business, all professions beneath you. You'll see a panorama of the new civilization of the Western world. I'm not sure about the entrance fee, but it is nominal—not beyond a well-organized budget for metropolitan sightseeing.

MARINE—TRANSPORTATION

VESSEL DUE IN MORNING

McKinley Coming From Orient Ports With Cargo For Transhipment

The American Mail Line Ss. President McKinley, Captain Clyde F. Bryant, will reach William Head at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, according to advices received by W. M. Allan, local agent of the line, yesterday. This should bring the liner alongside Rithet Pier by 7 o'clock, when she will commence to discharge 1,100 measurement tons of general cargo, in transit to Eastern Canada and the United States.

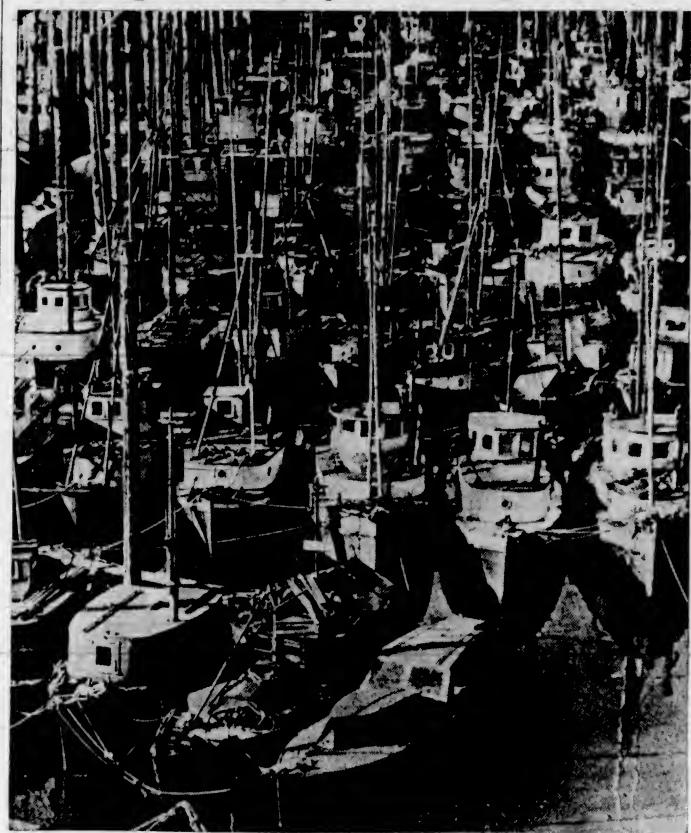

DUE TOMORROW

Coming in from the United Kingdom, by way of Panama, California and Washington ports, the Donaldson Line freighter Ms. Parthenia, Captain McKeachan, will not reach Rithet Pier until some time Wednesday night, according to A. R. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated, local agents for the company. The Parthenia will discharge about 160 tons of general cargo here, including shipments of grapefruit and bananas.

SPECIAL RATES

holiday. The return limit will be midnight, Friday, November 12.

WESTBOUND SHIP

Bound for the Philippine Islands by way of Japan and China ports, the American Mail Line Ss. President Jefferson will be here for two hours tomorrow afternoon. The Jefferson will be taking out a limited number of passengers, pending alterations and additions to her fire alarm system under new safety-at-sea regulations enacted by the United States Government.

GOOD AVERAGE

For the past year and a half, since the new type propellers were installed in the Cunard-White Star liner Ms. Aquitania, that ship has averaged very close to twenty-four knots. On five successive trips there was a variation of but thirty-five minutes for the entire trans-Atlantic crossing. On all trips her average was 23.80 or better. Her best time during the past summer was five days, seven hours and nineteen minutes, an average speed of 24.27 knots. Three successive arrivals at Ambrose Channel, off New York Harbor, were: 5:34 a.m., 5:38 a.m., 5:50 a.m., a variation of but four minutes.

BIG GAS CARGO

Exhibit to which aviation is used in the Sino-Japanese conflict is illustrated by the full shipload of aviation gasoline now being loaded at San Diego by the British motorship Skipes for Hongkong. The freighter will take 43,000 fifty-gallon drums, believed to be the greatest load of that commodity in package form ever lifted at the California port. A similar, but smaller, load 30,000 drums, went out from the same port a short time ago on the British motorship Baby Castle.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

Officially, it is reported from San Francisco, that the refinancing of the Dollar Steamship Lines has gone over almost 90 per cent unanimous. There were a few creditors who offered objections, the report states, but they were of insufficient importance to prevent the deal being almost unanimous. The reports indicate that any threat of the bank is now definitely set at rest. It is also stated that the company is going to build three new ships—presumably the equal of the President Hoover and President Coolidge.

JUST A DREAM

It was a dreamy day, and the two tramps sprawled in the sun.

"I'd like to have a nice pub in an out-of-the-way spot," said No. 1.

"You wouldn't get many customers," replied No. 2.

"Who the blazes wants customers?" retorted No. 1.
